

Rare development site with huge residential and commercial potential
 Prime central site in the heart of Carryduff village
 Opposite the brand new Lidl Shopping Centre and beside a popular retail row
 Original planning passed in 2006 for four townhouses
 Foundations in place to maintain live planning permission status
 Believed that electric and water connections are already onsite
 Very well priced to allow for strong development opportunity
 Original townhouse drawings available, though likely to be updated

A Heavenly Site!

This is a rare and highly visible development site in the centre of Carryduff. Positioned directly on Church Road, just off the main Ballynahinch Road, the site sits opposite the brand-new Lidl and beside a busy row of established shops, including a popular bar, coffee shop, and several retail units. Few locations in Carryduff can match the level of passing trade, visibility, and convenience offered here.

Planning permission was originally granted in 2006 for a set of four townhouses. It is understood that electric and water connections are already on site, which could significantly speed up any new development. Original drawings of the townhouse layout are available for reference, though it is expected that updated plans would be required.

The site represents a superb opportunity for builders or developers seeking a central project. Options could include townhouses, retail premises, or a mixed commercial and residential scheme, subject to the relevant approvals. The location is right in the heart of Carryduff, within easy walking distance to a full range of shops, schools, cafes, public transport, and leisure facilities.

With so few sites coming to market in such a prime position, and with pricing set to encourage a quick sale, this is an outstanding chance to secure a development project with genuine potential.
